The emphasis given to each topic will vary according to the strengths and weaknesses of the students in the groups and the syllabus for which they have been taught. It is therefore important that students give as much detail as possible on the questionnaire that will be sent out after receiving fees, about their syllabus and any areas of specific difficulty. Working without calculators will also be practised as this skill forms part of the assessment criteria.

This course examines key topic areas and extensive use will be made of exam-based GCSE level questions to illustrate relevant principles. Revision notes and model answers will be provided where appropriate
